GOVERNOR O'MALLEY TO VISIT BEL AIR HIGH SCHOOL TOMORROW

Governor Martin O'Malley will continue his "Jobs Across Maryland Tour" with a visit to Bel Air High School tomorrow, Tuesday, May 25th at 1:00 p.m. The Governor's visit will include meeting with first-year teacher Kyle Benfield and his Bel Air Electrathon Club. An electrathon is a three- or four-wheeled electric vehicle, similar in appearance to a Go-Kart with an aerodynamic body, but powered by an electric motor and batteries. The Electrathon Club provides students the opportunity to implement their designs and modifications to the electrathon race car. These hands-on experiences mirror a variety of challenges the students could face in professional fields such as aerodynamics, alternative energy solutions, transportation technology and mechanical engineering. Following the Governor's visit with Mr. Benfield and his students, he will tour the newly constructed Bel Air High School and depart around 2:00 p.m. Media is welcome to attend.
