FINAL STEM NIGHT TO BE HELD AT FALLSTON MIDDLE

The final Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM) night will take place on Thursday, March 29, 2012 at Fallston Middle School. Fallston Middle School sixth grade students and 5th grade students from Fallston's six feeder schools, as well as their families, are invited to attend the STEM night to participate in interactive sessions and demonstrations regarding STEM careers and excite students about mathematics and science.

The event features sessions and demonstrations led by high school seniors, teachers, and professionals in STEM fields. Sessions and demonstrations allow students and parents to work together to solve problems and complete tasks in a fun learning environment. Scheduled sessions and demonstrations include extracting DNA from strawberries, creating fossils from everyday items, examining a cow eye, and volcano simulations with everyday objects. This program will conclude the STEM nights scheduled for the 2011-2012 school year.
